Changing the face of health

FACES for the Future was created in 2000, in direct response to youth who expressed a need for health career exploration and mentorship. FACES programs target resilient and motivated underserved youth, providing academic support, case management, and leadership development opportunities that allow them to learn about health careers and gain the confidence, skills and support to pursue their dreams.

The FACES for the Future Model

Inspiring youth to lead by creating innovative approaches to youth development, health careers preparation, and wellness. Through their transformation, we change the face of health.

Academic Enrichment

Via tutoring, college preparation activities, workshops covering financial aid, documentation & personal planning.

Health Careers Training

Through didactic & experiential learning such as internships in hospitals, along with career panels, field trips & mentorship.

Wellness Programs

These activities support student well-being through life skills training, individualized case management & crisis intervention.

Our 4 Core Components

Youth Leadership Development

These activities provide opportunities for training in outreach, leadership skills and advocacy.
